If your practice overhead is 74% or higher, you are working too hard for too little. (74% is the average overhead as reported by the ADA.)

I'm sure you would all agree with me that now, more than ever, one of the most pressing issues for many dentists during this time is a high overhead cost.

We personally know many practice owners who struggle to create a thriving practice due to lack of proper overhead control, among other things.

We are all facing uncertain times and with no control over the external factors that determine our current situation, but there are some things you can control!

Now is the best time to look into the areas of your practice that need attention and improvement and figure out systems that will really help you regain profitability in your practice.

One of these areas, which we consider being one of the most important ones, would be your overhead and the way you control it.

We invite you to join this exclusive FREE live webinar, and learn how to control your overhead to create more opportunities for your practice to grow and thrive.
